

THE HOMELESS HOUND

The Homeless
Hound had nowhere to go.

His building came down, and where he would live, he didn't know.

He
wandered the city
searching for sleep,

And found a quiet park, and slept not making a peep.

Starting to stink, he found his friends and begged for a bath, They laughed and said "Sorry smelly boy, you do the math."

Defeated, he wandered down the boulevard
alone,

Until he saw the old wise
dog napping
by his home.

“You’ll end up in the pound if you keep wandering
alone.”

The homeless
hound groaned “That sounds like a real pain!”

The old dog fixed him with a stare,

“Do you think I got this house by sitting in despair?”

“Humans love a dog who has something to give.

Make them smile, make them laugh, and they will help you live.”

“Search with a pure heart,
be brave and
be strong,

Trust your instincts and your feelings
— you’ll know where you belong.”

The homeless hound ran to the school with a brand new spirit

He took his classes with focus and he wasn't going to fear it.

With hope in his heart because they are groovy.
He studied what makes a good movie.

And although he didn't plan it,

He was able to travel the planet.

Walking around one afternoon he spotted a girl dog
he knew,

Her name was Rosie, and she was in trouble, that much was true.

Too rough mutts were blocking her way and wouldn't let her pass.

The homeless hound
stepped up and barked.

"You better let her go fast."

A Dalmatian dog is shown in mid-air, kicking a black bin. The background is a vibrant, comic-style illustration with yellow and orange streaks radiating from the center, suggesting a bright light or explosion. The dog's body is white with black spots, and its legs are extended as it kicks the bin. The bin is black and has some white text on it, though it is partially obscured.

Rosie flashed a clever grin, She scared the mean dogs, kicking the bin.

Two dogs are running away from a dark doorway. The dog on the left is black with white paws, and the dog on the right is brown with white paws. They are running on a light-colored floor towards a dark doorway. The background is a simple, stylized illustration of a hallway with light-colored walls and a dark doorway. The dogs are running away from the doorway, and their shadows are cast on the floor.

The mean
mutts yelped
and fled

A chocolate Labrador and a Dalmatian are standing on a wooden boardwalk or beach at sunset. The Labrador is on the left, looking towards the Dalmatian on the right. The sky is a mix of purple, orange, and pink, with a bright sun low on the horizon. The water is visible in the background.

The homeless hound
checked on her when she said...

When are you guys going to see the light?

The last step is to physically fight?

A close-up shot of the two dogs. The chocolate Labrador is on the left, looking at the Dalmatian on the right. The background is a soft, out-of-focus sunset sky with purple and orange hues.

I'm sorry I don't know what to say.

It's fine. Maybe I'll see you soon.
Another day.

After that they'd meet up after class to frolic and play,

Sometimes he'd forget his work, distracted by the day.

Then one sunny afternoon, by an alley near the beach, he heard Rosie yelp -- just beyond his reach.

The dog catcher had found and chased her down.

The truck blocked her way out of town.

When a kind man opened the door and caught him — holding tight.

The catcher reached out but the man just shook his head,

“I think I’ll take this one home
with me instead.”

The catcher
nodded slowly, smiled and walked away, Something about that scruffy hound had made his day.

The lady at the desk said “I’ll need your name and where you stay,”

The man smiled warmly and began to say—

“I’m Cal, and this little guy

I’m calling
him Jaimo,

And as for our place, here’s the number and off we go.”

So Jaimo looked up on his new bed

And remembered every word the old wise dog had said—

KEEP OUT

KEEP OUT

KEEP OUT

KEEP OUT

Search with a pure heart,

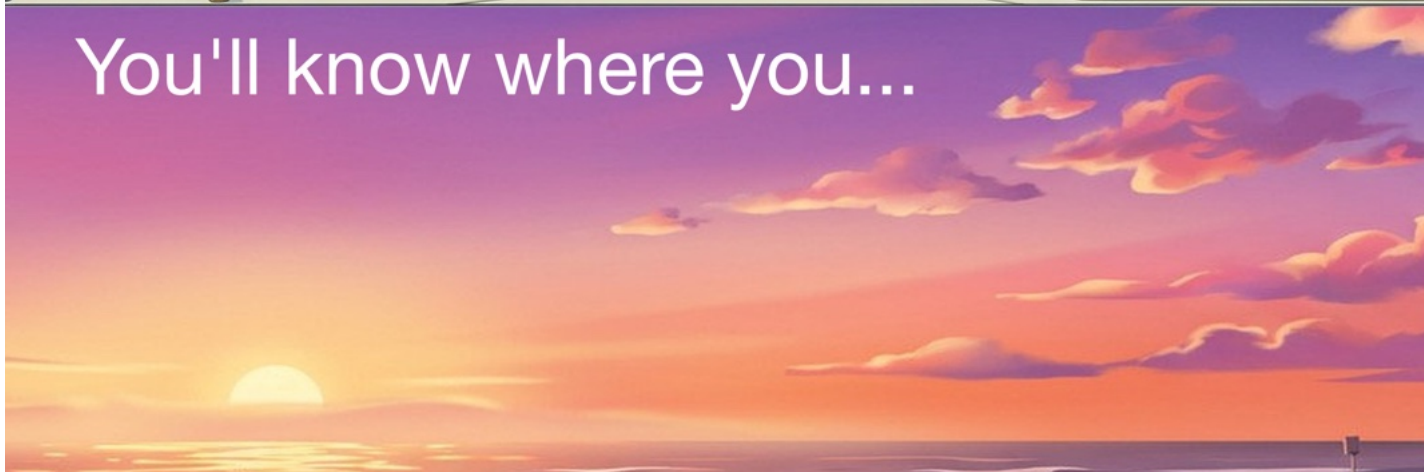

be brave and
be strong,

Trust your instincts
and your feelings

You'll know where you...

belong

